

Encounter the Counterculture

I had to go with a simple logo because I have no budget, no artistic skill and want the page title to be legible. So I went with 2 bright colors and a vaguely psychedelic looking font. I can't get the chosen font, Sniglet, to actually work in Photoshop Elements, so I can't actually put it in my design document. My typeface for paragraphs, likewise isn't in Photoshop Elements and can't be used. My page would ideally use Futura since it was around in the 60s, with Helvetica as a backup choice if Futura is unavailable.
